About of the Event :

The Short Term Programme on “Intellectual Property Rights” will be of one-week (6-working days) duration with 4-interactive sessions per day in an online, direct communication mode. The Programme is basically designed for the teachers of Universities, Colleges, and Schools to create opportunity to learn and interact on the topic which is very important in the current scenario of globalization. However, the course is also open to individuals from any other academic or research institutes and disciplines as well. Resource Persons across the country as well as from abroad are joining to deliver lectures and interact with the participants during the course.

The event has been conceived by the Intellectual Property Right (IPR) Cell of Gauhati University, UGC-Human Resource Development Center (HRDC) of Gauhati University, and Patent Information Centre (PIC) of ASTEC Govt. of Assam in line with the objectives of the Department of Science and Technology (DST) New Delhi.

Intellectual property rights are the rights given to persons over the creations of their minds. They usually give the creator an exclusive right over the use of his/her creation for a certain period of time. In the present context, it is utmost important to make people understand about the rights about their invention, traditional knowledge and other intellectual elements. The aim of this event is to sensitize the participants about Intellectual Property and share about the information related to IPR (such as Copyrights, Patents, Geographical Indicator, Trademark, Industrial design Trade Secrete etc.), Traditional Knowledge, Research ethics and related issues. The target participants are the teachers and officials of the Universities, innovators, researchers and students.
